

Private Walking tour: Expert-led Private Orientation Tour of Madrid

This 2-hour chat and stroll provides a practical orientation to the city and is led by a local expert.

It is often unsettling to arrive in an unfamiliar city for the first time. Our personalized orientation experience, led by a Context docent, a resident of and expert on Madrid, is an ideal option for new visitors seeking a practical orientation to the city. It was created to ease the transition from new visitor to comfortable habitue by answering questions about living and staying in the Spanish capital. We'll begin our experience in your apartment or hotel lobby where our docent will explain the layout of the city and the neighborhood where you are staying. We'll provide advice on local customs, recommendations for dining, shopping, and insider events and concerts, a basic language lesson, and open the floor to any specific questions. If you have other walks booked with us, we will examine your itinerary and go over any questions. We will then head outside for a stroll, allowing for a dialogue on the area's history and an opportunity to absorb the neighborhood ambiance under the guidance of a seasonedmadrile o. We'll pause from time to time to talk about historic buildings and monuments, or maybe to review how the subway and buses work. We'll point out colorful markets or the cafe where the best tortilla in the area can be found. We'll leave you with maps, a head full of knowledge, and a better idea of how best to maneuver in this enchanting city.
